Maverick Actress Is Signed By Noted B'way Producer

Jeanne Jerrens, 19, Has Part in Bench Warmer, Alex Yokel Play; Opens in Detroit

Woodstock, Aug. 15 — Miss Jeanne Jerrens, of Chicago, lovable 19-year-old blonde member of the Maverick Players, this week set a firm foot on Broadway's "stairway to the stars."

Miss Jerrens, product of New York's famed Neighborhood Playhouse from which most of the Maverick troupe has been recruited, has been chosen by Producer Alex Yokel to play the ingenue lead in his new play, The Bench Warmer, which will open within a few weeks in Detroit. The play will go to Chicago, thence to New York by late fall or early winter.

The young actress, who has done outstanding work in several Maverick Theatre plays this season, notably Thunder Rock, Mr. Plim Plim and Topo, was given her big chance when Mr. Yokel attended a performance of Rope. The producer, who rates as one of Broadway's best, was impressed by Miss Jerrens' acting, went back stage and asked her to try out for The Bench Warmer.

Miss Jerrens went to New York this week to attend a rehearsal of the play and immediately was signed for the role. Mr. Yokel was looking for some one to play the role of Emily, who had difficulty in finding an active young actress capable of looking and acting sixteen and yet having the ability to look and play the part of a more mature person as the play progresses.

Players Are Pleased
Reaction among the Maverick Players, this week beset by legal difficulties in the form of a former manager's show cause order returnable Saturday in Kingston in Supreme Court, was high. The players expressed happiness at Miss Jerrens' selection and said that, while her presence would be missed, it gave them great pleasure to see one of their number chosen by Alex Yokel.

Miss Jerrens has worked hard for the players and they are glad to carry on the difficult schedule this summer has been due in great measure to her perseverance, courage and ability to tackle any job, however menial.

Bert Wheeler in Lead
Bert Wheeler will play the leading role in Bench Warmer.

The author-producer is well known for his successful Broadway productions of Three Men on a Horse and The Glass Menagerie.

Backlog of Tenants' Complaints Reported
New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—Lack of sufficient personnel to investigate and process complaints of local tenants has caused a heavy backlog of such protests, city and federal rent officials disclosed today.

Necessities 'Buys' Are Only Half of What 1939 Cash Could Get

(By The Associated Press) ... Your 1939 dollar is worth only about 50 cents today in buying the ordinary necessities of life, but it buys a lot more in some parts of the United States than in others.

An Associated Press survey of retail prices in 13 leading cities in all sections of the nation revealed strikingly irregular increases. Some products have soared out of all relation with others compared with prewar days.

Some cities where living costs were lowest in 1939 pay the most now. The survey showed: You can eat for less, by and large, in Minneapolis than in most cities.

You pay more for meat in the packing capital of Chicago than elsewhere. Your housing dollar buys more in San Francisco and St. Louis, and least in Denver, compared with the other cities.

Your clothing dollar goes about as far one place as another, but buys a lot less than in either 1939 or 1946.

Your meat bill has gone up much more, percentage-wise, than your bread or milk bills. Butter and eggs' rate much higher, on your budget than they did comparatively before the war.

In most items, half or more of the price increase has come in the last year. But while your housing dollar buys only half as much in most places as in 1939, in Columbus and San Francisco it buys more than it did in June, 1946.

Typical Products Surveyed
Surveying typical products in the three fields of food, clothing and housing marked by the Department of Justice for "price control" investigation, The Associated Press Survey found, in the 13 cities, item by item: BACON: Prices jumped 300 to 400 per cent in many cities in all sections of the country between 1939 and the present. In money, the range of increase was from 36 to 63 cents a pound. The packing center of Chicago reported the greatest hike. In 1939 it had the lowest priced pound in the nation, 18 cents a pound. But today it pays 81 cents a pound. San Francisco reported the highest price today, 87 cents, a jump of 53 cents over its prewar price of 34 cents. Columbus and Minneapolis reported a 40 per cent increase since 1939.

Crane, was identified through two notes which she left as Nancy Robbins, 32, wife of Newton D. Robbins, a boat builder.

Vets' Housing Is Halted By Slum Clearance Angle

The need for immediate and effective action in the city in behalf of veterans, seeking homes was stressed through several sources during this week and mainly through the recent efforts of one veteran who was forced to move, to find a home for his family.

Similar problems of many other veterans in the city has stirred interest in a special housing survey, which it was learned today, is expected to be started soon through a united effort of various local service organizations.

Appeals for assistance in finding homes have been made by eight to ten veterans within the past weeks at the office of the Ulster County Veterans Service, it was learned today, and 45 "eligible" names are now on the waiting list for housing facilities in the veterans' housing project in Loughran Park.

The local housing commission, meanwhile, it was learned, was appointed mainly in readiness for whatever federal or outside aid could be obtained in furthering local housing developments, has been left ineffective through the lack of aid under the general housing program.

Nuisance Tax Plan Is Fading

Special Committee Is Expected to Report Negatively at Next Supervisor Meeting

Not the Solution
Public Hearing Feeling Is That Legislature Should Pay Teachers

Although no definite comment has been expressed on the matter, it is regarded as almost a certainty that a special committee will express a negative view on the imposition of "nuisance" taxes, to help meet increased teacher salaries when it reports at a meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors scheduled for Tuesday, August 19, at 8 p. m., in the court house on Wall street.

Supervisors serving on the committee are: Chairman Edward J. Murray, Harry Snyder, William Walzman, John T. Groves, Henry Battenfeld, William Kelb, Albert N. Cook and Matthew Jordan.

Denounced by Majority
The expression of sentiments at a public hearing, July 9, undoubtedly will influence the report of the committee, which heard a great number of those who attended the court house session denounce the "nuisance tax" plan, regarding it as a menace that would drive business into adjacent counties which have declined to use this means of raising money. Although several school officials favored the tax in expressing themselves at the hearing, the majority of people present were of the opinion that this was not the answer to the problem.

Public sentiment was invited by the Board of Supervisors, and the hearing scheduled after it had received a petition at its June 26 meeting asking that it take action under the recent state law to raise $399,479.64, or $26.04 per pupil in average daily attendance to help pay the increased costs of education.

Regardless of the recommendations of the committee, however, the decision for adoption or rejection of the "nuisance tax" method of raising money rests with the entire Board of Supervisors.

'Up to Legislature'
It seemed to be the consensus at the public hearing that as long as the state legislature made the mandatory increases in teacher salaries, that the body should have provided funds to meet the raises through state grants from public moneys instead of leaving the problem to special taxation.

In the event that the supervisors fail to impose the special taxes, or provide funds for paying higher salaries, that the body should be left on this individual school districts. In this event it is likely that the school authorities will plan on going before the legislature at its next session to seek additional funds for payment of increased costs.

Report Freight Robbery
Rome, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Rome press reported today that a "strong group" of bandits had overpowered the crew of a freight train only a mile out of Rome last night, unloaded its cargo and disappeared before police arrived at the scene.

Commission for action in the event of outside aid, but none has been received under provisions of the current national housing set-up.

It is time now, one local realtor said, for immediate and effective action by the public and local officials to secure aid for the veterans in need of homes and to help relieve the housing shortage in general.

The move, he said, should be backed by one and all, and should be kept free of political entanglements.

The problem of Harold Wood, 25, until recently of 415 Albany avenue, is typical of several which have come up for official attention recently.

850 Brick Handlers Stage Stoppage; Have No Contract

Merchants Plan New Association North Front Street Group Would Organize; to Meet Monday

Merchants on North Front street have taken a renewed pride in their street since the improvements to the street began this spring. With completion of the new pavement, widening of the street and other improvements being made several of the merchants have begun a movement to form a North Front Street Association for the purpose of bringing additional benefits to the area.

A meeting of the North Front street merchants has been called for next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the formation of such an organization. The meeting will be held at 67 North Front street.

It was explained by one member of the local that its members did not work in the absence of a contract.

Under the old contract, which expired at midnight today, the minimum scale was $1.02½ cents an hour and among the proposals being made is an increase in wages.

Ralph Nardi, business agent for the Local, was not at the office of the local this morning and no one there was authorized to make a statement regarding the situation.

On May 15, prior to the expiration of the contract a 90 day notice was served and negotiations were begun toward securing a new contract. When parties were unable to come to an agreement at 11:30 o'clock last evening those negotiations were terminated and in the absence of a contract the men did not report for work today.

The work stoppage affects the yards along the Hudson valley and was stated that all of the yards were idle today.

Operators Present Modified Demands
New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—A modified set of demands was presented today to "New York shipping operators" by the A.F.L. International Longshoremen's Association, which is seeking wage increases and other benefits.

Various Proposals Are for Wage Increase Above $1.02½ Scale

Approximately 850 members of the Brick Handlers' Union, Local 1467, A.F. of L., along the Hudson river valley were idle today in the absence of a contract with the yards and as a result work was shut down at the yards. The contract which had expired between the local and the brick manufacturers expired at midnight and the men did not report for work today.

The longshoremen originally sought a 25 cents an hour hike in their present $1.65 basic hourly rate, increased vacations, employer-supported welfare funds, and a guarantee of eight hours work a day instead of the present four.

Ryan has indicated he will seek to reach an agreement before provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law affecting the preferential shop become effective next Friday.

Power and Light Are Cut Off for Time in Kerhonkson Area by Lightning

Beacon Gets Storm

Po'keepsie, Newburgh and Beacon Suffer Damage

Kingston escaped the fury of several severe electrical storms which swept the central Hudson valley Thursday afternoon and evening but there were heavy rains in nearby communities, accompanied by vivid lightning which damaged electrical installations and in places cut off power and light for a time.

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation reported its greatest damage from lightning in the Atwood-Kerhonkson-Leibhardt area of the Rondout valley. The damage was "spotty" and principally from lightning damaging transformers. There was some damage from falling tree branches. Service in the area was restored early in the evening.

In Kingston only a sprinkle of rain fell and the storms which surrounded the city, did not move into the immediate area.

Fruit Is Damaged
At Clintondale there was a very heavy rain with some wind and there was some damage reported in orchards where the wind damaged heavily laden fruit trees. A resident of Clintondale however reported that the damage was "not severe" and he observed no hail.

State Police at Highland reported that while storms seemed to surround them, there was no severe storm in that area.

Poughkeepsie was hit by a heavy storm during the night which did considerable damage in the Poughkeepsie-Beacon area and caused considerable damage to utility companies. In the Newburgh area there was also heavy rain and wind with a "continuous display of lightning." One motorist reported that it took him a hour and 40 minutes to come to Kingston from Newburgh during the storm and that rain was exceptionally heavy.

Several Factories Halt Work When Mercury Climbs

Work in several factories of the city was stopped yesterday afternoon as this week's heat wave reached a peak in the city with a maximum temperature of 99 degrees recorded at 2:15 p. m. on the thermometer in the city engineer's office.

Many women employees in the various local garment industries were allowed to quit early yesterday afternoon as the mercury began a steady rise from noon until mid-afternoon. Both men and women in several other plants were allowed to go home between 2 and 3 p. m.

Although no official sources reported heat victims, there were several unofficial reports that three or four persons had been overcome with the heat while at work.

A temperature of 92 at 1 p. m. today indicated that the afternoon would not reach the high of yesterday which was the maximum recorded locally to date this year.

Local factories, many of them under pressure of meeting order deadlines, had made no specific plans for early quitting today, but it was understood that many employees would again be discharged as early as possible. If the temperature continued mounting, Men and women employed in pressing rooms and similar departments, were released from their duties early yesterday afternoon in most plants and it was expected that an early quitting time would be announced again today.

The temperatures to date this week since the beginning of the heat wave were: 85 Tuesday, 87 Wednesday and 99 Thursday with the high of 92 at 1 p. m. indicating a high of at least 95 by mid-afternoon.

Predict Showers Will Lessen Heat

Rain Is Forecast Late Today for All State; Fair and Cooler

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Relief was in sight for heat-plagued New Yorkers today as thunder-showers were predicted throughout the state.

The Weather Bureau said showers late in the day and tonight would snap the week-long sludge during which the mercury reached 90 degrees and above generally through the state.

The forecast for tomorrow is "fair and cooler."

Scattered thundershowers sent temperatures downward last night after they had remained in the 90s most of the day. The mercury hit 97 at Albany, a record for the date. Buffalo's 93 also was a record, the sixth in the series.

The death of one man in Syracuse was attributed to the heat.

The expansion of the Smith-

Here comes Handsome!

BREATHES there a man with soul so dead he doesn't relish a little open admiration from the sidewalk?

Can you name a male, modest though he otherwise be, who fails to get a secret bang out of public appearances with a creation as gorgeous as this one?

Well, you need only take charge of this beauty for a while to see how much, much more it does for you than flatter your masculine ego.

Touch off the eager power in its eight big Fireball cylinders and see how your pulses start pounding.

CLIMBING PRICES

How long prices will continue to rise is a question which is heard frequently. Although they are lower in some lines than was the case during the spring months, prices have risen in other lines, and the rise in some instances has seemed almost spectacular. Meat prices especially have soared and it is in this category that interest has centered, so far as the average man and woman are concerned.

It is generally realized that the price is due to increase in the domestic demand because of our present prosperity—more people are eating meat than ever before—and in some degree to the great amount of meat being exported. Feed grains are going to the other countries too, and this has its effect on the supply and price of meats. Comparing meat prices with the ceiling prices of last fall is of little value because under the ceiling prices no meat was available.

So far as manufacturing industries are concerned, it is apparent that the stage was set for an increase in price when United States Steel cut the pattern a few months ago with a wage increase. This was followed by an increase in the wages of the coal miners. Here are two key industry costs of which affect all the others. Already the price of steel has been boosted and General Motors also has boosted the price of its automobiles.

The only way to hold prices to the consumer when the cost of production is increasing is to increase production. Sooner or later we will come to the end of the road as far as the increase in the cost of living is concerned—but how and when?

WHAT THE CONSUMER WANTS

At various times polls have been made of consumer needs, desires and eccentricities. And the answers show why there is plenty of room for all kinds of stores, from the big department stores to little specialty shops.

One segment of the consuming public is primarily interested in price. It compares the prices of competing retailers and always goes where the most is offered for the money.

Another segment is interested in certain trade-marked brands, and buys only in stores which carry those it favors.

Still another segment places services high on the list of its requirements. It wants delivery of goods to the home, the charge account privilege, a very liberal policy in exchanges, etc., and it is willing to pay the added costs that these and other services entail.

Under the free competitive system—which is the American system—there is a store to meet every demand. Every kind of character of consumer commodity is stocked, and a long list of brands is offered. If one store can't meet some buyer's standards, another store down the street will. And every merchant who keeps up with the times will get his share of the business. American retailing is geared to serve the varying wishes of the 140,000,000 Americans who patronize it.

MEN AND BABIES

The latest job from which men are being crowded out is baby-sitting. The placement bureau of City College of New York reports that mothers will not take male sitters, apparently having no faith in them. Yet a good many fathers are pretty successful at the essentials in caring for babies. And in some other parts of the country men seem to be gaining favor for this job, perhaps because mothers think a man would be better able than a high school girl to cope with a fire or a burglar.

BRESLAU INTO WROCLAW

To the list of large European cities add Wroclaw. You will look for it in vain on your globe or map unless you try the old name, Breslau. This is one more case of a city name which has been a familiar landmark being changed to something different as a result of change of ownership.

Once German, Breslau or Wroclaw is now Polish. All but 10,000 of its German inhabitants have been expelled. The city now has a population of 300,000, almost all Polish. Some are living in the houses of dispossessed

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

HOW OLD IS OLD?

Last Sunday, Herbert Hoover was 73 years old. Next Tuesday, Bernard Baruch will be 77. Serge Koussevitzky, who conducted nine Beethoven symphonies and two concertos in a week, besides many other programs at Tanglewood, at a Summer music festival, looked like a greying youth at the final concert and he is 73.

How old is old? When does a man really become old? I do not recall the time when I did not think of my father as an old man; yet, he must have been young some time or other. They tell me that most children think of their parents as old, while the parents imagine themselves veritable babes in the woods. Yet, Nicholas Murray Butler only aged during the past five or six years, although he is now 85 and in spite of the infirmities of what we call old age, his mind has been crystal clear throughout those decades when, according to tradition, one seems to live on borrowed time. A few years ago, when I dined with him, I was astonished at the vivid youthfulness of his attitude toward life.

William Randolph Hearst was in financial difficulties some years ago. He saved his enterprises and manages them today with unbelievable vigor at 84. He not only edits his newspapers, but directs the business of his properties, and in fact, it is hard for a young man to follow. And Toscanini, at 80, directs the N.B.C. Symphony.

The Magazine, "World Report," some time ago listed the average span of life in various countries. They gave the following data:

New Zealand	67
Sweden	66
Netherlands	66
United States	65
Great Britain	64
Germany	61
France	57
Italy	55
Russia	45
India	27

When we were young—those of my generation—we were taught that the average span was 35 years in this country. Maybe that was low. But the U. S. life insurance companies, having recognized that the life span has increased by more than 50 per cent, have announced that next year they will discard as obsolete the tables of mortality used for 80 years. Their actuaries have finally caught up with their own statistics. Perhaps when the American life span reaches 100, we shall not need mortality tables.

Physical youth is, of course, not the sole question. Medical science can find ways of saving life and improving those whom they save. Mental youth, the flexibility of the mind, continued usefulness, the capacity to earn a living and to enjoy life—these are even more significant. George Bernard Shaw at 91 has a whole of a good time. In spite of his being a vegetarian—which must be horrible—he manages to keep chipper. It is his mind. When the old boy talks about being in his second childhood, he has his tongue in his cheek, although some would say—not I, however—that he never escaped his first childhood.

During the depression years, they were laying off men at 50 as finished. The dopes who thought up that gimmick lacked understanding of the world in which they live. They were old fashioned. When the war came, they were begging the old boys to come back, because the old boys knew how—which is more than their great grandchildren can prove. Experience and wisdom come with age and if the oldsters, in addition, are mentally vigorous, they are worth infinitely more than the bright boys fresh out of college who know how to read a statistical curve but lack the experience and wisdom to know what makes it work. That is the difference, for instance, between Jesse Jones, at 73, and the little drips who complain about him. (Copyright 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

INDIGESTION

When an attack of indigestion occurs and you do without food for a day or part of the day, perhaps taking a mild laxative or a strong purgative, and soon become free of the symptoms there is usually nothing to worry about. However, if you have indigestion practically all the time you shouldn't worry about it but consult your physician. Continuous indigestion may be caused by organic disease or because your emotions are upsetting your digestive system. Where the emotions are causing the symptoms, it is called functional disease or functional disturbances.

When we speak of indigestion we may mean a simple symptom such as a slight pain in the stomach or a number of symptoms such as nausea, vomiting, gas pressure, loss of appetite. Indigestion is one of the most abused, meaningless and misapplied terms in medicine. The term is used to embrace gas, belching, abdominal pains, heartburn, diarrhea and other symptoms. I am quoting Dr. W. C. Alvarez, Mayo Clinic, in "Southern Medical Journal."

The most common real or organic causes of these symptoms known as indigestion are: (1) Gall bladder disease, (2) peptic ulcer, (3) chronic appendicitis, liver disease, a failing heart, and pouches containing waste matter in the lining of the lower or large bowel. All these organic diseases or structural conditions can be discovered by careful examination and the X-ray. While this reassures the physician and should reassure the patient, the physician has to search even more diligently for the functional or emotional cause or causes of the symptoms. Sometimes eating habits of the patient, perhaps allergy to some foods, chronic constipation, are factors.

Among the nervous, emotional or mental factors causing or partly causing "indigestion" are over-tiredness (mental and physical) called neurasthenia and also called nervous breakdown; mucous colitis in which there is a constant mild diarrhoea present; too much tobacco and alcohol; one-sided headache (migraine); arthritis in joints between bones of the spine; irritation or actual infection in the muscular walls of the abdomen.

With all their reconstruction activity the Wroclaw Poles have found time for culture. They have a symphony orchestra, an opera company, a conservatory of music and a repertory theatre.

How many newly built American communities would be so prompt in creating these intellectual assets? But it's only fair to remember that as Breslau it had made a pretty good start.

BABSON on BUSINESS

SOCIALISM

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 15.—I wanted to visit some typical New England city to learn how its people are feeling. As Bridgeport perhaps suffered most through the depression of the Thirties and then—according to Newton's Law of Action and Reaction—prospered most later during World War II, I am writing from here.

A Typical City

Bridgeport is a city of about 150,000 people. These people have had a reputation, as being radical and for many years have elected a socialist mayor. He, however, tried hard to be fair and has had the vote of many conservative people. At one time Bridgeport was the only city in New England with a socialist government.

During the recent war these people prospered greatly. Not only is this a large center for small machinery and tools of all kinds, but it makes guns and ammunition even in peace times. Hence it was and is a war city. The conversion to peace time products was difficult and much unemployment was forecasted for 1946 and 1947, but this has not come about. Bridgeport continues to be prosperous. Certainly if this applies to Bridgeport, it should apply to most manufacturing centers in New England and elsewhere.

What About Business?

The truth is that the entire United States—as President Truman has recently pointed out—is at an all-time high. We have more employment and greater sales today than ever before in our history. The only disheartening sign seems to be those of some summer resorts who had planned on a record year which has not occurred. Too many people seem to be economizing during vacations. They take only a twenty dollar bill and one suit of clothes and change neither during the trip. This, however, is not a business sign. Those people are saving money for something which will last longer and perhaps give them a little vacation each day of the year.

When the stock market was at a low ebb—some months ago—many readers criticized me for being optimistic during the early months of 1947. They felt that my forecasts for a "good 1947" would be wrong. Each month, however, has confirmed my optimism. The

LOOKING AHEAD

I continue to be optimistic for the many "Bridgeports" in the United States, although sometime there will be a day of reckoning for all unless we think more of other people and get out of debt. The next panic will come suddenly like a bolt from the blue. Although our domestic situation is good, the foreign situation is very bad. There are no prosperous "Bridgeports" in Europe. Communism is very different from Socialism.

Investigations by Congress Are Popular or Unpopular Depending Upon Whom Is Being Questioned
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 15.—Congressional investigations are popular or unpopular depending upon who is being grilled.

Looking back at the shafts of ridicule and satire aimed at the House Committee on Un-American Activities, there was no committee of Congress perhaps devoted more by the "left wing" elements, particularly the Democrats. Now, as the news comes out that the Department of State "for security reasons" has dropped several Communists and the fact has been uncovered that various persons working in the interest of foreign countries have been perverting passport frauds, the American people are not being reminded that this very movement had its origin with the Dies Committee.

It is true that the rules of evidence are disregarded by congressional committees, but this is a legislative custom on which there are varying opinions. Very little criticism has come during the past 12 years from the "left wing" as the National Labor Relations Board has actually made decisions affecting civil rights after hearings in which the rules of evidence have been strictly disregarded. Trial examiners have the chance and go further afield than congressional committees, because there is no minority party representative to check on abuses.

It will be recalled also that the technique of sweeping investigations by congressional committees has resulted in the passage of important legislation. The present Securities and Exchange Act owes its origin to the Senate Banking Committee's inquiry in 1933 into financial operations of big holding companies. Individuals were piloried before that committee, whether guilty or innocent, and innuendoes were issued every day to the press to prejudice public opinion. But that was a Democratic party affair.

Likewise, under Democratic control in the '30's, the income-tax returns of several successful business men were held up to scorn because they took advantage of legitimate deductions. Investigative committees have a way of running all over the lot with their questions and the Democratic committees did not seem to be any too polite or dignified about it when they were in power.

The courts have upheld the right of congressional committees to ask almost any question on any subject. The courts have ruled that Congress has a right to elicit information whether the legislative body decides to use or not to use the information in the writing of subsequent legislation. Recently some Democratic spokesmen, with a little touch of self-righteousness, have condemned some of the Republican committees for a "lack of dignity." This implies perhaps that the conduct of the congressional investigations by the Democrats has always been dignified. But there is no rule requiring senators to consider "dignity" in examining a witness. If there were such proprieties in the Senate, some of the new-found champions of "dignity" would not have been filibustering recently for days at a time under the pretense of discussing a public bill question while they took books piled high on Senate desks that contained matter wholly irrelevant to the subject under debate and merely consumed time. Such tactics are considered proper though obviously hypocritical and undignified.

The rule of "dignity" seems to come to the fore when someone doesn't like congressional inquiries. Dignified or undignified, the investigating committee is the chief bulwark of our representative form of government. It is a means whereby the party in power is checked up by its successors. It is a warning, moreover, to those who win power not to forget that the public some day may vote another regime into the saddle and the checking process will be begun all over again.

To ridicule the system of congressional investigation is to ridicule the democratic process. It is to offend onlookers and also the irritation of persons being grilled. But, adding it all up, the advantages are on the side of sweeping inquisitorial powers. One important rule is that investigating committees shall not be the vehicle for the airing of private grudges or the airing of private grudges.

About all that experts with recent investigations seems to prove, however, is that Democrats don't like congressional investigations conducted by Republicans and the Republicans don't like inquiries conducted when the Democrats are in power. If the public will observe the long-range results carefully, it will find that congressional investigations usually result in the eradication of abuses and often in legislative restrictions in the public interest. Action Involving Catholic College Is Dismissed by Judge

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 15 — A taxpayer's action questioning the constitutionality of a state cash grant for emergency facilities for veterans at a sectarian college has been dismissed in State Supreme Court.

Acting on a defense motion, Justice Alger A. Williams dismissed the suit yesterday. It was brought by Henry A. Bull, local attorney, in connection with a $128,000 allocation to Canisius College, a Catholic institution.

The money was for remodeling Sisters Hospital to provide veterans classroom facilities.

Bull, who had indicated he would appeal to the higher courts in the event of a dismissal, was not available for comment.

Williams declared in a memorandum that there was "merit" in defense contentions that a plaintiff in a case of this sort must show "special material, or personal interest" in its outcome "beyond that of a mere taxpayer."

"In view of this determination, the constitutional questions raised become academic and are not before this court for determination," he said.

Bull's complaint charged unconstitutional use of the state's money in that it went to a sectarian institution for a permanent addition.

The dismissal motion was filed originally before State Supreme Court Isadore Bookstein in Albany, but the court held then that the suit must be handled in Erie county, where it was filed.

Simple Styling Highlights Soft Beauty of Gray Hair

Gray-haired Eleanor Dakin, New York model, wears her hair in a simple pageboy bob which looks neat, smart and youthful.

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

"I've never been tempted to dye my hair," says gray-haired Eleanor Dakin, top-notch New York model.

Instead, she believes in giving nature a hand. The whitening nimbus—that accents her sun-bronzed skin and adds to her distinction as a model is proof that both nature and Eleanor know what they're doing.

She thinks the styling of gray hair should be smart but simple. Her page-boy bob is chosen for its youthful look and head-molding neatness. Hair-length like Eleanor's lends itself to frequent trimming and thinning which, if you have a white and dark mixture, allows for a more uniform blending.

Gray hair presents two problems: an inclination toward dryness, and a tendency to take on a yellowing tinge. Both problems can be licked with the right kind of care, says our model.

If you are pursuing a tan, as Eleanor is, keep your head covered when you go into the sun. The sun has a way of heightening a yellow tinge in gray hair.

Shampoo your hair often to emphasize clean shimmer. Use bluing rinses to lighten whiteness.

The inclination toward dryness—a constant bugbear if you have gray hair—can be combated by oil treatments and cream dressings.

Brushing is a must if you want your hair to wear a natural, bathed-in-luster look.

From Victor Vito, whose hair-dressing skill helps many a New York lovely to up her glamorizing, come some tips:

Purple and platinum rinses, says Vito, will dramatize silvery crests and may be used to neutralize salt-and-pepper mixtures in gray hair. Before using these, however, Vito urges you to make a color test on a strand of hair.

Have you a silver streak weaving its lonely way through your dark hair? Dramatize this beauty mark by making it whiter with a coating of magnesia paste, applied with a brush. This whiter, which will make capital of one of nature's most charming caprices, can be floated out with a hairbrush.

Dodgers Split With Carbondale to Hold 7½-Game Margin

Rosa's Speed Is Deciding Factor In Second Game

Speed—that mercurial quality that Branch Rickey seeks in every ball player—paid off handsomely at municipal stadium last night when winged-foot Knobby Rosa virtually stole the second game of the doubleheader against Carbondale and enabled the Dodgers to clinch the series three games to one.

The Dodgers won the nightcap, 3-2, mainly because of Rosa's speed and base running, after the Pioneer Blues had topped the opener by an identical score. As a result, the Kingston lead remained at 7½ games.

Neighbors Falls
Feature of the opener was the unsuccessful pitching return of Hank Neighbors, ace southpaw who has been sidelined with a shoulder injury for nearly a month. Hank left the game in the third inning and it was evident that he will need more time to recuperate.

Carbondale won the seven-inning opener behind the effective five-hit pitching of Johnny Jaworski and were leading 2-1 with two outs in the seventh of the nightcap when the trouble started.

Williams Homers
Wiley Williams, who had boomed a tremendous 390-foot homer in the fifth inning, dropped a fly to short center and by fast running stretched it into a double while Left Fielder Vaughan dawked with the ball. Rosa worked slick for a pass and was on first when Jerry Orlemann slapped a line single to center.

Williams scored easily on the play as First Baseman Kriedler cut off the relay near the pitcher's box. Orlemann suddenly found himself trapped between first and second but not in position to catch the ball, so it was a race between Kriedler and the Dodger centerfielder for the bag. Orlemann won it with a desperate slide.

Meanwhile, Rosa had headed for third base and when he saw Kriedler chasing Orlemann toward first, he flew right and turned on the steam and headed for pay dirt. Kriedler, aware that he had misread Orlemann at first, made a desperate toss from a half sitting position at first to Catcher Pardo. Rosa and the ball got there about the same time but Knobby executed a perfect fullway slide and slid under Pardo's outstretched paw for the game winning marker.

The small crowd went haywire by the demonstration of base running by Rosa. In one dramatic thrust apparent defeat had been turned into victory and the Dodger recipe of run-and-make-them-throw had paid off once more.

Braun Drops Opener
Neighbors, making his first start in nearly a month, didn't have his stuff and was out after yielding 6 hits and a run in 2 1/3 innings of the opener. Ken Braun relieved him and was charged with the loss, his seventh of the season.

Johnny Jaworski, one of the Dodger's better pitchers, checked the Dodgers with five hits and one run in the fourth while Rudy Antonetz chased him home with a lousy triple to right field. Rudy scored a moment later on Braun's line single to right.

Carbondale put together three singles for a run in the second, tied the score in the fourth when Kitsos booted Kunz's grounder and Jaworski tripled to right center. With one out Gindele laced an outside pitch close to the right field foul line for a triple scoring Kriedler with the winning margin.

Two Home Runs
A pair of home runs featured the second game and up to the time of Rosa's base running show, Bill Hick appeared to be a winner over Johnny Rogan.

Singles by Kunz, Kriedler and Gindele put Carbondale ahead 1-0 in the third. The Blues added another in the fifth on Kunz's homer to deep right field. Wiley

Williams golfed a fast ball a mile high and 390 feet to the left field corner for a homer to make it 2-1 in the fifth. Then came the seventh.

Kriedler made a one-run lead, Rogan breezed through the last two innings. He wound up the contest with a flourish by striking out the last two batters.

In Bloomington
The Dodgers scurry to Bloomington for a one-night against Butch Sawatski's troupe tonight and then return for a Saturday single and Sunday doubleheader against Nyack. Dan Bennett is the probable starter tonight.

Kingston players who will take part in the workout are Clark Mains, Dick Dulin, Mike Rienzo, Lefty Joe Jordan, Bill Glaser, Allan Vogt, Bill Tierney, Ralph Tiano, Bob Giear and Jackie Watzka.

Six players from Poughkeepsie and three from Highland also are scheduled to work out.

Waterbury Timers Continue to Win In Colonial Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Three-baggers produced more revenue than home runs in a Colonial Baseball League game last night as the Port Chester Clippers, their attack paced by triples by Steve Ristau, Hank Dvorak and Larry Rowe, scored a 15-6 victory over the Stamford Bombers from whom Manager Zeke Bonura, Scotty Goprosky and Vito Devito hit homers.

The lead changed hands three times until the bottom half of the sixth inning when the Clippers scored nine runs, the big blow being Ristau's triple with the bases loaded.

An error with the bases loaded was the turning point of the game, in which the league leading Waterbury Timers overcame Bridgeport 6 to 2. The New London Raiders, given the unenviable task of trying to end a 10-game losing streak against the Poughkeepsie Giants, gained a 24-hour reprieve when rain fell at Poughkeepsie, but they must meet the Giants twice tonight.

The Giants announced last night the signing of Sanford "Sandy" Silverstein, husky right-handed pitcher who won 22 games and lost four last spring for New York University where he was captain of the team.

Yearling Sales Boom At Saratoga Track

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—The slump in yearling sales all over the country from 1946 highs has not been evident here after three nights of thoroughbred auctions.

For the third straight night, sales totals went over the marks for previous years last night when 49 youngsters brought a total of $289,000 for a new record average of $5,898. The previous high average was $5,464 set on the third night of the 1946 sales here.

Once again, the top bid was made by Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Brookmide, a filly of Belmont, N. Y., which brought a record $27,000. Brookmide was top bidder on the two previous nights of the sale.

The total for the first three sales programs last year was $575,000 for an average of $4,218. For the same period this year the figure is $786,500 for an average of $5,232.

Phalanx Favored In 78th Travers Stake

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Tomorrow's 78th running of the famed Travers Stakes is likely to uphold its tradition of attracting a small field and a record Spa crowd.

A check today indicated that only a few horses are expected to tackle C. V. Whitney's Phalanx in the week-end edition of the oldest stake in the United States, first run during the Civil War, in 1864.

Only one horse can be counted upon to provide anything approaching stiff contention—Claude C. Tamm's Colonial Of.

The Cedar Farm Miltyne and William Woodward's Hyblaze, neither of whom would figure to bother Phalanx, may be given a Travers fling with GreenTree's Tallspin just a possibility.

Chandler Forbids Cuban Tours for Major Leaguers

St. Louis, Aug. 15 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler has issued a directive forbidding Major Leaguers from playing as members of Cuban winter league teams, and Cleveland's Bobby Feller, whose plans for a barnstorming tour brought on the ruling—is asking "how come?"

Feller had announced earlier in the week he would pitch five games for a Cuban League team between October 21 and November 8.

"Players are permitted to conduct barnstorming tours in other places outside the United States," said the Cleveland ace upon his arrival here last night, adding, "why should Cuba be an exception?"

"It is my understanding that such tours are permissible anywhere so long as the players do not play with or against ineligible players and conduct themselves as Major Leaguers are expected to do," the Indians' star hurler commented.

Feller said Cleveland President Bill Veeck had approved his tour after the present season and added that he planned to consult Veeck further as soon as the latter gets out of the hospital.

Not only did Chandler rule with regard to the Cuban League, but he said Major Leaguers must obtain his permission to play outside the continental United States during the 30-day period in which they are permitted to play with other than their own clubs.

In announcing his barnstorming plans, the outspoken Iowan had taken exception on the 30-day limit. "Why should a Major League player be limited to 30 days of barnstorming when a Minor League can play all winter?" he asked. "It places a penalty on being a Major Leaguer."

Esopus Horsemen Plan Two Events

The Esopus Township Horsemen's Association held a regular meeting at the Gables in Ulster Park on Wednesday and discussed several items of interest to the membership.

Among the proposals submitted were the stocking of Mirror Lake with bass, crappies and bluegills. Plans also were formulated for a social to be held in the near future.

Rubber Game

The third and deciding game of the softball series between Cordts Hose and Union Hose will be played Sunday at Hasbrouck Park. Ray Radel of Cordts Hose, says his squad expects to take the rubber match without too much trouble.

Squeeze Plays Figure in Runs For Both Clubs

Jones Dairy and Morgan's Restaurant battled to a 2-2 stalemate before a large crowd yesterday in the first game of the City League's Shaughnessy playoffs at the Athletic Field.

The game was called on account of darkness at the end of the sixth, after the Dairymen had tied the score in their half of the inning.

Billy Windburn and Bud Swarthout dueling brilliantly, the former yielding only four hits and one earned run. Jones picked up seven off the Morgan portside. Both clubs resorted to the ancient squeeze play for one of their markers.

Berardi Injured
Johnny Berardi, Jones Dairy left fielder, who was a big cog in the Dairymen's attack with a single and triple was injured in a play at the plate in the sixth inning and had to leave the game.

It is not known whether or not the injury will force him to miss the remainder of the playoffs.

The usually reliable Andy Celuch committed two errors after Tom Heneberry doubled with two outs in the sixth to give Morgan's a 1-0 margin. Mains singled to left with one out in the fourth advanced on J. Berardi's single and scored when Zadany shot a singleton to left to tie the score at 1-1. Morgan's regained the lead in their half as Charlie Neff beat out an infield single, advanced to third on two passed balls and crossed a perfectly executed squeeze play by Tom Heneberry.

Dairymen Tie Score
With darkness coming on fast, Johnny Berardi led off with a triple to left field to open the sixth. The left took a bad bounce past Charlie Neff and Berardi pulled up at third. Jones then pulled the squeeze with Zadany at bat and Berardi slid across the plate in a close play.

Morgan's kicked up a big threat in the last of the sixth but George Zadany, the alert Jones receiver, picked Bud Zoller off third base for the crucial second out. Bill Thomas opened the frame with a single but needed a runner because of a bad leg. Manager Bud Zoller volunteered the chore and reached second on Neff's sacrifice.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Formula for Proper
Playing of Squeeze

By Wm. E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority.
Written for NEA Service.

All bridge writers probably receive more squeeze plays than any other type of hand, because players are quite proud, and justly so, whenever they successfully execute a squeeze.

Squeeze plays are not too difficult when you see them, but they are difficult to recognize in actual play. Many writers have attempted to establish a formula for the correct handling of a squeeze play. Sometimes the early development of the play will tip you off to the possible squeeze.

In today's hand declarer won the opening hand lead with the king, and started to run the club suit. On the second club trick East showed out, discarding a heart. Now declarer knew that East was going to try to protect spades and diamonds.

South proceeded to cash the remaining clubs, discarding the nine and five of spades from dummy. East let go the eight of diamonds showing his partner a high diamond—not necessarily a wise disclosure, as it told declarer not to take the diamond finesse.

South's next play was a small diamond to dummy's king. A spade was led from the board and East put on the nine-spot, which declarer surmised that East held the jack and ten. The queen forced West's ace, and another heart came back. Declarer won this with the queen and cashed the ace of hearts.

Dummy now was down to the five of spades and the king-jack of diamonds, while declarer had the king-eight of spades and three of diamonds.

Poor East! If he let go the ten of spades to protect the queen-ten of diamonds, South's king and eight of spades would be good. If he threw away the ten of diamonds to protect the spades, declarer could cash dummy's king-jack of diamonds.

One of the first rules to remember in connection with the squeeze play is to conserve a card of entry into either hand.

Won't Cut Milk Flow

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—A brief but serious threat to the milk supply of the nation's largest city had passed today. Local 30 of the A.F.L. International Union of Operating Engineers, which had threatened to call 121 milk plant engineers on strike by the first of next week, reached a wage agreement late yesterday with the Milk Dealers Association of Metropolitan New York. The union won a wage increase of $9.50 a week.

Cragmoor Presents "Does the Lady Yield?"

The premiere of "Does the Lady Yield?" at The Cragmoor Theatre, Tuesday was an important event. Producers, motion picture representatives, political figures and talent scouts from New York were in the audience, and there was an air of expectancy in the crowd milling around the theatre before curtain time.

The program carried two changes. Instead of Nan McFarland, who was to have had the lead, Helene Ambrose was listed as Myra Carlson, the lady secretary, Grace Conard. Miss Ambrose was given the role three days before opening, when it was found that Miss McFarland was too ill to go on.

The curtain opened on a swank home in Rhode Island, with gold panelled walls, rich drapes and beautiful furniture, and the scene later drifted to two offices in Washington, D. C., complete in every detail, including congressional records, rows of book cases with authentic looking books with fine bindings, heavy solid oak doors and filing cabinets.

"Does the Lady Yield?" is the story of a woman who accidentally becomes involved in politics, and the subsequent effect of political power on her personal life. Myra Carlson, the wife of a millionaire and publisher of a magazine and a string of newspapers, through the death of a senator, in her district, is given the office, with the understanding that she hold it for just two years. At the end of that time, Virgil Touchon, the Governor of Rhode Island, will take over. In the meantime her husband is being groomed for the presidency of the United States.

In her lust for power, the beautiful, cultured woman of society forgets her promises and is ruthless in her campaign for more power and a still higher political position. She is willing to sacrifice her husband and daughter, and loses both in the end.

Starting Tuesday, August 19, Mr. DeCosta will present "Chicken Every Sunday."

SHOKAN

Shokan, Aug. 14 — Howard Brooks, former Shokan boy who has resided in Boston for many years, was a week-end visitor at the home of his mother, Mrs. Earl Elmendorf.

The Rev. Wayne Williams, pastor of the Ashokan Methodist Church and Mrs. Williams will be away a few days.

Santi Nadal has resumed his duties as superintendent at the Pictorial summer home following an accident in which he cut himself with a axe.

New telephone poles have been set at intervals through the village. The poles carry the several score through trunkline wires as well as the small cable which houses local wires. Later in the year, if present plans materialize, the entire trunkline to the mountains will be in cable.

George Hogan, who died Monday afternoon at the Kingston Hospital, will be greatly missed in the village where he had resided for more than 30 years. He was known also in the several other communities of Olive which he had frequently visited in the line of duty as a member of the Ashokan Reservoir maintenance force. Mr. Hogan lived in early boyhood at Boiceville, on the west side of the Esopus Creek. He went into the first World War from Shokan and was assigned to the 133rd Pioneer Infantry, 87th Division. He was a member of Kingston Post, 150, American Legion.

August 15, 1913: The new railroad station at Ashokan is a busy place with several employees to look after the different departments. Drillers have struck water at Abner Winne's new store (present Winne place) after going down 90 feet, several of which was through bluestone. Richard Mammion, who has been coming to Shokan each summer for many years, is again in the village center for his annual vacation.

Olive Assessors H. Markle, C. Gustavson and P. Colletti put in a quiet grievance day at the corner store Tuesday. The local tax experts were in receptive mood despite the 90 degree heat but none appeared all day to air his grievance. And of course, many a taxpayer thought to call and thank or compliment the trio for their good work in doing the hundreds of new names (realty changes) upon the assessment roll.

Mrs. J. Clarke of Pittsfield, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. William Abbott of Boston were recent callers at the Earl Elmendorf home. The ladies are sisters of Mrs. Elmendorf.

Sealing the reservoir a la pick-up truck is on the increase according to a local observer. Folks fix themselves up comfortably with cushions, etc., while enjoying our incomparable scenery in reverse, as it were. One can treat several more friends to a ride this way than with the ordinary pleasure car. Moreover, people in sedans and sports roadsters no longer look down their noses and honk at their fellows in trucks—too many of the former wish they had something as good, or at least as cheap.

The Methodist Sunday school picnic will be held Saturday, August 23, at Forsyth Park in Kingston. The Route 28 contractors probably were influenced largely in their decision to locate operation headquarters alongside the Economy & Wendt garage by the abundance of good water at that point along the road. The driven well at the garage is 155 feet deep and furnishes water at the rate of eight gallons per minute.

Something new has been added to the Brookside Rest, or Byrne summer boardinghouse—a spacious veranda running around about half of the 17-room building.

Chester Lyons, Jr., plans to give up his Lackawack job and join the construction force on the state road project.

Huckleberries are ripe in old fields along the mountainside and the blackberry season is still going strong. Homer Wynkoop, resident of the Samsonville area who has friends and relatives in this part of Olive, is reported to have bought 1,000 quarts of huckleberries from pickers over that way. Homer takes the berries to Albany in his newly purchased pickup truck.

Enjoying an outing and dinner Monday at Hunt's Edgewater camp were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weeks and their following city guests: Mrs. Della Claus, Miss Edna Madden and Harry Stoder. The visitors are spending several weeks at the Weeks' home on Route 28.

SHOKAN—3
Edward Terhune and family of New York stopped here the latter part of the week while en route to West Shokan where they have rented Donald Bishop's cottage.

The Pine Hill bus line has more business than its big fleet of buses can handle, so they not only hire equipment from other firms but also press touring cars into use to accommodate the heavy mountain travel.

Having a Birthday: Mrs. Abner Longyear, one of Shokan's oldest residents, Sunday, August 17, and Mrs. Lemuel DuBois of Ashokan, August 21. Mrs. Longyear is a daughter of Solomon and Abigail (Davis) Markle whose farm home was the present H. A. Dibbell place. She has attended the Reformed Church since her girlhood days and for more than 50 years has conducted a successful summer boarding business at her place on the old state road. Mrs. DuBois, a resident of Ashokan for more than 30 years, has four grown children and is active in M. E. Church circles.

Three quarters of all logs and lumber in the United States are shipped entirely by truck.

Move Is Underway To Legalize Bets

Off-Track Betting Measure Is Being Prepared by Group

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—An intensive drive by police against horse bookmakers in New York city was paralleled today by a move to legalize off-track betting on races.

The Queens County Republican Legislative Council, composed of ten state assemblymen and four state senators from that borough of the city, announced last night it will prepare and introduce legislation to permit citizens to bet away from the tracks as legally as they now can bet at the tracks.

Assemblyman Samuel Rabin said the measure will propose establishing a limited number of licensed "betting shops" under state supervision.

Earlier, Mayor William O'Dwyer declined to express approval or disapproval of a presentment handed up Wednesday by a Queens grand jury in which it expressed doubt that anti-gambling laws, like the prohibition law, could be enforced. He did, however, praise the investigators as "a good, live jury."

The police department has the responsibility for enforcing a law which applies outside the fence, of a race track but not inside, a law for which a considerable portion of the public has shown little respect," the mayor said.

"There is danger of corruption in this picture.
"One investigation after another during my 37 years in this city has publicly charged corruption in the enforcement of these laws. It is something about which every honest administration is deeply concerned. This administration is no exception. We need and we will need all the help we can get from law enforcement agencies.
"The Queens grand jury and another in the Bronx are investigating allegations by self-styled former bookmakers that police required them to pay protection money.

The drive against all forms of gambling, which has been accompanied by wholesale transferring of high police officers and the demotion of four inspectors, was opened August 4 by Police Commissioner W. Wallander after he had testified before the Queens grand jury.

The drive has resulted in about a thousand arrests, only a fraction of them for bookmaking, and currently the New York authorities are working with New Jersey authorities to halt interstate operations in which boss bookmakers across the Hudson river use runners in New York city to receive and pay off bets.
